O O O O O O O O O O O BELTON NEWS. O O O O O O O O O O O

W. A. Jamison, Jr., special agent for the Southern Bell Telephone company, is in Belton, a guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Al Jamison.

Prof. A. F. Conrad, of Clemson College and J. W. Rothrock, farm demonstrator for Anderson county, visited the Long Branch school near Belton Monday and made very interesting lectures to this school. Prof. Conrad is the wire worm specialist and he stated to the correspondent of The Intelligencer while in Belton that he is pretty sure that the wire worm problem will be solved during this year. The counties in the lower part of South Carolina have been great losers from this peculiar pest, but Prof. Conrad is reasonably certain that through the active work of the farm demonstrators of the State, but this pest will soon be destroyed. The cover crops, being the key note to the situation.

Miss Floride Kelly, and her nephew, Foster Kelly, and Miss Emma Worick, of Belton, spent Sunday at Sheddor, guests of Misses Lola and Katie Copeland.

J. K. Phillips, cashier of the Southern Railway and express offices at Belton, spent Sunday with friends in Greenville county, Sunday.

M. G. Gaines of Belton, has accepted a position with the Roger Printing company of Anderson.

We expect to have the line between Greenville and Spartanburg completed and in operation in two weeks, though it is possible that very inclement weather may delay the construction work a few days longer," said a prominent official of the Interurban system yesterday. The line connecting this city with Spartanburg is now completed, to within two miles of the last named city—Monday's Greenville Daily News.

The above paragraph is indeed news to the citizens of Belton; we, as well as the other towns along the line of the Interurban, hope to see this system carried into effect as soon as possible.

W. W. Chakrader, a prominent citizen of Belton, says he has among those who had business in town yesterday. He was accompanied by his little son.

W. H. Green of Charleston, had business in Belton yesterday.

Miss Alice Gray of Anderson, was in Belton yesterday visiting friends.

John Hudger of Peizer, may be mentioned among those in our city yesterday.

W. W. Bodson of the city of Greenville, was a caller at Hotel Gee yesterday while in town.

Hockover Toy, of Atlanta, was among those in town yesterday.

M. D. Quay, a traveling man of Charlotte, had business in our city yesterday.

J. D. Craft of Martin township, was in the town of Belton on business yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Link of Anderson may be mentioned among those in town yesterday.

J. L. Ridgeway of Honea Path, was in Belton yesterday on business.

T. W. Woodworth of Richmond, was registered at Hotel Gee yesterday.

Mrs. C. P. Cox of Belton, care a party to quite a number of her friends yesterday evening, and those present had a most enjoyable time. Those present were: Misses Hettie and Rosa Barefoot of Greenville, Misses Helen

CLERGY EXTENDED IN NINETEEN CASES

Governor Commutes Sentences of Bamberg and Barnwell Convicts

COLUMBIA, Feb. 9.—Sentences of 17 convicts serving terms in the State penitentiary, from Bamberg and Barnwell counties were reduced yesterday by the governor on the condition that the men be sent to the county chancerygangs, in addition the granted two paroles.

A parole was granted to John Henry McCrary, who was convicted in Aiken county in 1907 on the charge of manslaughter and sentenced to 15 years in the State penitentiary.

A parole was granted to Charlie Walker, who was convicted before a magistrate of North a few days ago on the charge of breaking a labor contract and sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or serve 30 days.

The governor took action in the following cases from Barnwell county:

The sentence of life given John Henry Holmes for murder in 1904 was reduced to 20 years.

The sentence of life given Elmore Williams in 1911 for murder was reduced to 20 years.

The sentence of life given Charles Kinard in 1910 on the charge of murder was reduced to 20 years.

The sentence of life given Charles Taylor in 1909 on the charge of murder was reduced to 20 years.

The sentence of life given John Coleman in 1907 on the charge of murder was reduced to 25 years.

The sentence of life given William Daniels in 1906 on the charge of murder was reduced to 20 years.

The sentence of life given Charles Kinard in 1910 on the charge of murder was reduced to 20 years.

The sentence of life given Isaac Hutto in 1905 on the charge of murder was reduced to 25 years.

The sentence of life given John Colemen in 1907 on the charge of murder was reduced to 25 years.

The following officers were elected for the Junior Civic League that has been organized here: Grace Campbell, president; Annie Cox, vice president; Paul Tellington, secretary; Rose Mae Austin, treasurer; committees were appointed whose duties are to watch after the streets, school yards, to keep the school rooms nice and clean, and to plant more flowers in the school yard.

Quite a number of pupils were absent from school Friday on account of the bad weather.

The governor took action in the following cases from Bamberg:

The sentence of life given Doc Nelson in 1907 on the charge of murder was reduced to 25 years.

The sentence of life given Ben Stevenson in 1906 on the charge of criminal assault was reduced to 30 years.

The sentence of life given Bill Rice in 1926 on the charge of murder was reduced to 30 years.

The sentence of life given U. May in 1909 on the charge of murder was reduced to 30 years.

The sentence of 10 years given John Gall in 1907 on the charge of forgery was reduced to 5 years and one month.

The sentence of life given Robert Morris in 1906 on the charge of murder was reduced to 20 years.

The sentence of life given Albert Curry in 1905 on the charge of murder was reduced.

Since assuming office the governor has extended clemency to 1,029 cases. The chief executive has granted 661 paroles. There have been 339 parsons and commutations granted. A large number of the prisoners have been recently transferred to the county chancerygangs. In most instances the sentences have been materially reduced.

There were very few absent members and the club was glad to welcome several new ones, among them Mrs. W. T. Hollingsworth, the wife of the new Presbyterian minister, and Mrs. E. C. Asbell, who has recently come to Townville as a bride.

The club has nearly 50 members, all working together for the best interests of their home and of the community.

The publicity bureau, as conducted by our federation president in The State, was heartily impressed.

As a start for our library each member was requested to donate one book. These are to be in the custody of the newly elected librarian, Mrs. Anna McElroy, and exchanged among the members according to library rules. With the new traveling library from the federation we will have quite a number of books to suit all tastes.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dickson read a very interesting paper on "Economic Boying", and Miss Bertha Dunn gave an instructive article on "Household Management". The domestic science course is well under way and proving very practical and helpful to the members.

The recipes of each week are to be preserved with the end in view of compiling a Townville cook book.

After the business meeting the club spent a delightful social hour with their needlework, discussing airplane and aims for the club.

The hostess, Mrs. Hosman, served tea and cake, and the members enjoyed sweet morsels during the social hour.

The club will meet next with Miss Elizabeth Dickson.
